

ORGANIZATIONAL LEADERSHIP

University of Northern Iowa David W. Wilson College of Business

<https://business.uni.edu/management/majors-minors-programs/organizational-leadership-major>

About The Major

This major will prepare you for important leadership roles. Your personal development means learning how to be a strategic thinker and set organizational goals. Your strategic thinking will include a focus on ethical decision-making, civil-mindedness, and innovation.

Your focus on people will encourage team development and your self-development, leading others to success using a personal approach rather than a strict focus on impersonal productivity metrics.

Sample Course Work

Principles of Organizational Management

Organizational Behavior

Leadership

Business, Ethics, and Society

Dynamics of Negotiation

International Management

Possible Careers

*Some titles may require further education

Nonprofit Program
Administrator

Business Manager (all disciplines)

Higher Education
Manager

Human Resource Manager

Consultant

Corporate Negotiator

Project Manager

Corporate Recruiter

Organizational Trainer

UNI Graduates: Where Are They Now?

- AEGON | Transamerica
- Allied Universal
- Ameriprise Financial Services
- Best Buy
- Collins Aerospace
- Farmer State Bank
- Fidelity Bank & Trust
- HyVee, Inc.
- John Deere
- Kent Corporation
- Lincoln Savings Bank
- Pella Corporation

Skills Needed

- Communication skills
- Strategic Thinking
- Problem-solving
- Time Management
- Decision-Making
- Conflict Management
- Adaptability
- Teamwork
- Emotional Intelligence